DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ratnaraj et al.

Ratnaraj et al. shows, figure 1, an authenticated assess to Internet based research and data services. In particular, the system is intended for financial data sets including those sets widely used at business schools, which include market research data (such as CRSP, Fama and Market Indices), corporate data (such as Compustat), and banking and insurance data (such as BEST and FDIC). Also see database sources 12-30 on figure 1. (The huge amount of data available in these data sources inherently incorporates many of the details in the dependent claims. The examiner assumes that applicant is familiar with these sources and would know that daily, monthly and yearly reports; types of securities; issuers names; investors; and so are available. Please inform the examiner if there was a particular set of information that would be excluded from the Wharton Research Data System (WRDS)). There is a CGI (electronic screen) gateway available to generate reports. In a preferred embodiment, a procedure extracts time series data (historical financial performance data) from many different kinds of data files distributed by various data vendors and stores them in a SAS.RTM. data set.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to all the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Lewis shows a system of interest.
